Lesson 15

The 18th letter in the Arabic alphabet is the letter 'Ayn. We don't have an equivalent in the English language to this sound. It is a squeezed sound that comes from the throat.

ع

With short vowels:

ع

End	Middle	Beginning
ع ع	ـعـ ـع	عـ

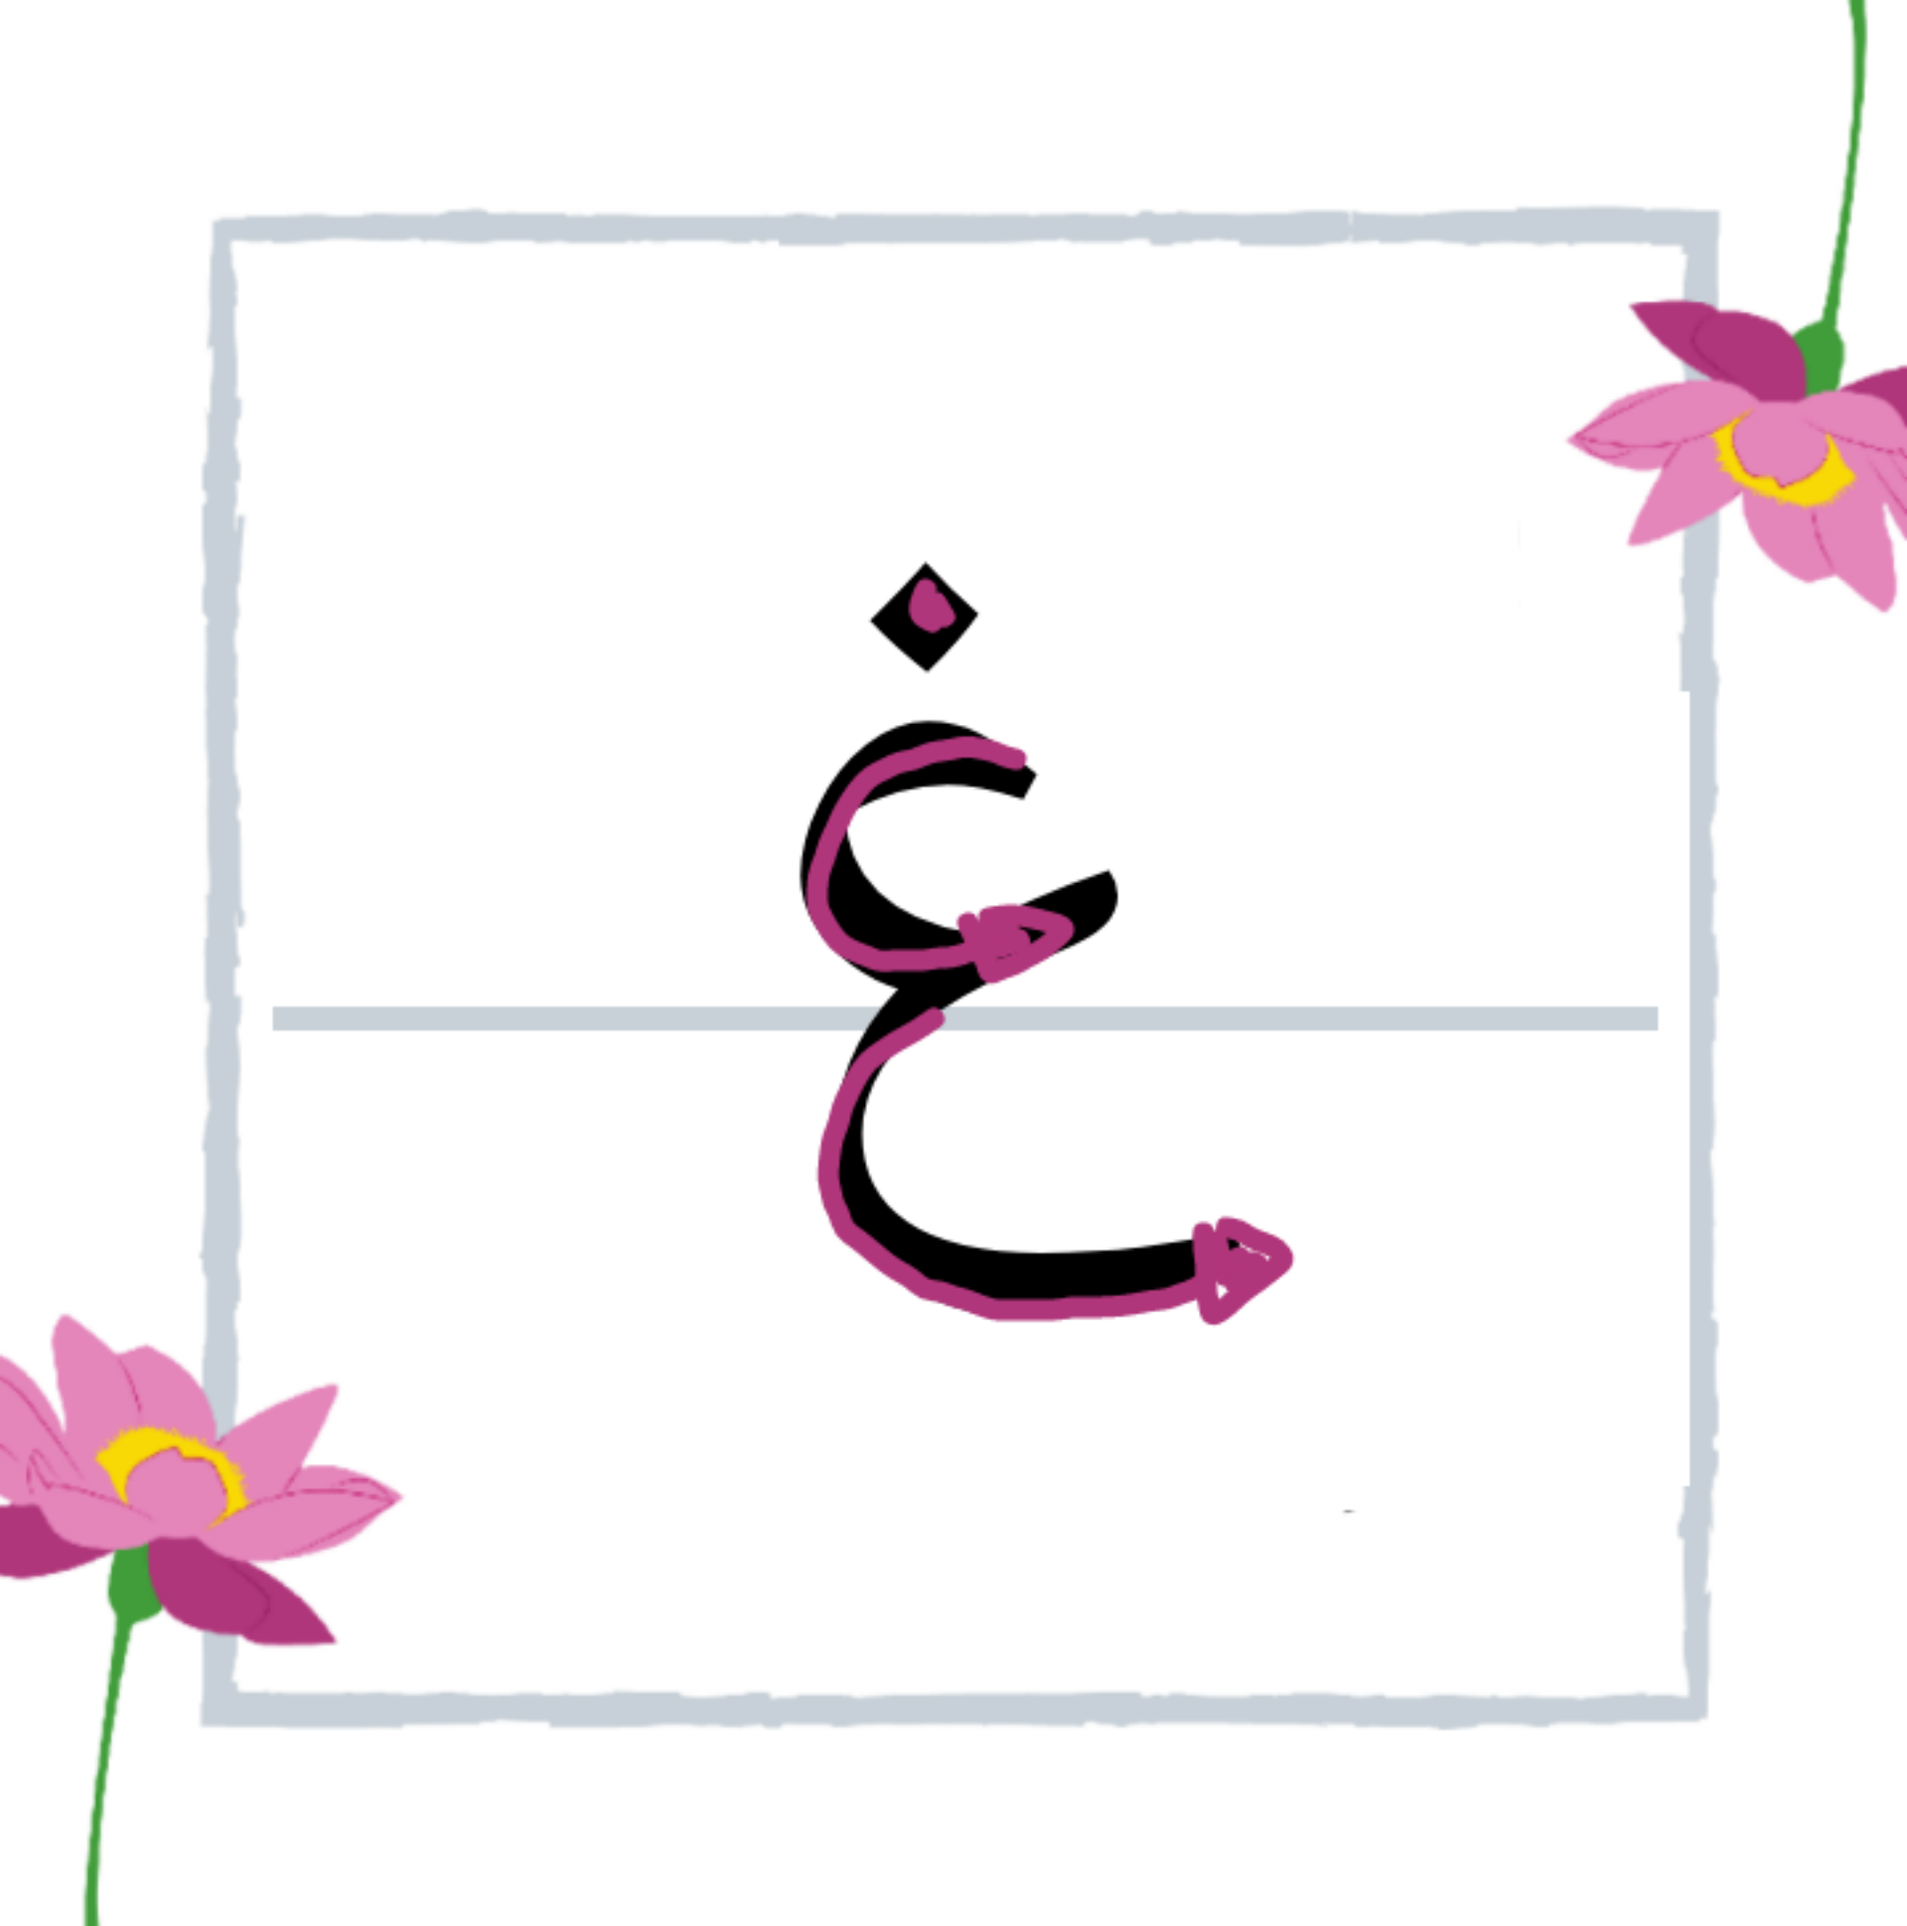
*If the Ayn is preceded by a letter that doesn't allow joining then in the middle it takes the beginning form and at the end the initial form

عَ عَ عُ عَبَ

زِعَتَ رَبِعَ سَعَرَ

ثَبِعَ رُطِعَ ظَبَعَ

The 19th letter in the Arabic alphabet is the letter Ghayn. We don't have an equivalent in the English language to this sound. It is a gargling sound that comes from the throat.



غ

With short vowels:

غُ

Ghu

غَ Gha

غِ Ghi

غ

End	Middle	Beginning
غـ ـغ	ـغـ غ	غـ

*If the Ghayn is preceded by a letter that doesn't allow joining then in the middle it takes the beginning form and at the end the initial form

غَ غِ غُ غَبَ

زِعَتَ رَبِغَ سَغَرَ

ثَبِغَ رُطِعَ ظَبَعَ

Homework

ع غ

ـع ـغ

ـعـ ـغـ

ع غ

Write some combinations with other letters